This report uses genetic traits from your ConnectingDNA bio profile. ConnectingDNA isn't responsible for any inaccuracies or how you use this report. If there are discrepancies, it could be because of inadequate genetic traits used in the analysis, lifestyle and environment's impact on your genes, errors in your DNA report uploaded, or human error in interpretation.

Do remember that your life is a journey of self-discovery, and it can evolve over time. While your genetic traits can influence your inclinations, your experiences, values, and personal growth also play a significant role in determining your life. It's essential to explore different paths and find what resonates most with you.
